Bedless

by mydeistittysucker

Summary

Anyways, the problem was that their room only had one bed. A king sized bed, sure, but Mydei was currently laying in it and unwilling to give it up after a 6 hour bus ride for their championship.

Mydei and Phainon one bed troupe… things end up getting heated.

Notes

My first ever contribution to the Phaidei community and it will not be my last… trust. Especially bottom Mydei bc he has me in a chokehold I swear.

Also idk if I made it clear enough but they are basketball players. I'd say they're in their college years in this fic and they're 21+.

This is also not proofread so if there are mistakes feel free to criticize me for it.

See the end of the work for more notes

Mydei was going to set the room on fire… right after he murdered whoever arranged their rooms.

He and Phainon, his teammate, rival- reluctant friend- and now roommate, both stare at each other from across the room. The silence is loud enough that even a pin drop could be heard as they exchanged a challenging stare that shared more than any words ever could.

Mydei was spread eagle on the white bedding, his blonde and red hair splayed out on the pillow underneath his head, his thin red jacket thrown open to expose his pure white wife beater underneath, his red tattoos just slightly visible underneath the thin material. Phainon stood just in font of the door, his thick backpack hanging off his left shoulder.

Now, Mydei didn't necessarily mind sharing a room with Phainon. He was more bearable than their other teammates, albeit still annoying in the way he challenged him over everything and was just so good looking and effortlessly talented at everything he did.

Wait, wrong argument.

Anyways, the problem was that their room only had one bed. A king sized bed, sure, but Mydei was currently laying in it and unwilling to give it up after a 6 hour bus ride for their championship. Nope, his back needed the reprieve if he was going to play well.

So, breaking eye contact, Mydei's eyes drift to a close, his arms moving behind his head as he got even more comfortable on the firm mattress. "Looks like I got here before you, dumbass. Bed's all mine tonight."

A smirk curls on his lips as his eyes open again and his gaze drifts to the loveseat near the bed. "Looks like you'll be sleeping on the couch tonight, though."

Mydei hears Phainon walk closer, but he doesn't pay the other man any attention as his eyes drift to a close once more. Suddenly, there's a heavy weight on his chest, an oomf leaving him as the sudden pressure makes his eyes snap open.

He glares up at his smiling friend, golden eyes ablaze with fury. "What the hell-"

"As your teammate and friend," Phainon interrupts, ignoring the murderous glare that Mydei fixes him with that anyone else would've cowered at. "I believe it would only be fair for us to share the bed."

Mydei blinks, brain registering his teammate's words. "You- absolutely not! To share a bed with you would be akin to sharing a bed with a clingy dog." His voice comes out as a snarl as he tosses Phainon's heavy ass backpack off of him and onto the bed so he can sit up.

Phainon sits next to him, the bed dipping even more under their combined weight. He's close to Mydei like always, like they're both some sort of freakish human magnets and Phainon can't resist the pull towards Mydei. Maybe that's why he can never get him off his ass.

”Come on, Deimos. It wouldn’t be fair fir one of us to sleep on that uncomfortable couch that’s too small for either one of us while the other gets to sleep on a comfortable bed.” Despite being a grown man, Phainon is giving him the puppy dog eyes that always makes him want to drop everything and give in.

Wait, no. Never that.

Mydei rolls his eyes, shoving Phainon away from him with a jab in the ribs from his elbow. He ignores as the man clutches his side in pain and groans. “I told you to stop calling me that, dumbass. And anyways, you always said that any challenge is fair game. I got here before you, which means I get to sleep on the bed tonight.”

Phainon eyes him and Mydei can practically tell that he’s deciding whether or not it’s worth arguing about by the Kremnoan’s expression. Whatever he sees cases him to deflate in surrender and he moves to get off the bed. “Fine, but whoever makes it back first after practice tomorrow gets the bed.”

Mydei shrugs, unbothered by the challenge. Phainon grabs his backpack, slinging it over his shoulder once again and making his way to the bathroom. “But I get to shower first,” he calls over his shoulder.

He narrowly manages to dodge the pillow Mydei throws his way and slam the door closed behind him.

Breakfast the next morning is wonderful.

The finals for the basketball championship is only two more days away, and Mydei feels the excitement coursing through his veins already. It’s both a mixture of his wonderful sleep- courtesy of such a luxurious bed- and his favorite drink mixture of pomegranate juice and milk.

If he was one to smile so easily, he’s sure he’d be showing off his pearly whites as he walks into the basketball court. He’s still tying his shoulder length hair into a ponytail when he spots Phainon by the bleachers and makes his way over to him.

To Mydei’s absolute surprise, Phainon is surprised to see him. He’d heard the way the man tossed and turned aimlessly all night, muttering curses at the couch mainly in his own language. When he’d woken up in the morning, Phainon was gone and nowhere to be found.

Nonetheless, Mydei bets that if he was smiling like an idiot before, it would only widen at the way Phainon perks up at the sight of him like a dog watching his owner come home after a long day. It was kind of cute.

Wait. No, ew. Where the hell did that thought even come from?

Mydei shakes his head to clear away any thoughts calling his friend cute, crossing his arms as he stops in front of Phainon.

”What a displeasure to see you, dumbass. I hope your sleep was as wonderful as ever last night. I know mine was.” There’s a taunting smirk on his lips and despite his tone, Phainon’s pleased look on his face doesn’t fade. What a weirdo.

”I admit, I’ve had better sleep than what I experienced last night, though it wasn’t all too unpleasant.” A lie, obviously. Phainon was horrible at lying. “If anything, your snoring is what kept me up most of the night.”

”I do not snore-“ Mydei’s growl is cut off by their coach walking into the court and blowing his whistle loudly. Mydei shoots one last glare at Phainon before they walk with the rest of their teammates to meet him at the center.

Nearing it, Phainon jogs ahead of him, no doubt one of his stupid, spur of the moment challenges he just made up in his head. As he passes Mydei, he looks at him over his shoulder and mouths something. Mydei ends up, embarrassingly, staring at his lips for a bit longer than necessary.

First one to the room gets the bed.

Exhausted and sticky with dried sweat, Mydei inserts the keycard into the hotel door and swings it open with a little more force than necessary. He tosses his athletic bag onto the floor, kicking off his sneakers next and finally peeling off his black t-shirt.

Practice was so long and tedious, Mydei just can’t wait to-

Fucking hell.

Sitting on the bed with a towel wrapped low around his waist and that stupid, frustrating smile on his lips is none other than Phainon. Like earlier, he seems delighted at the sight of Mydei, and it only serves to fuel’s the Kremnoan’s rage even more.

”Deimos, there you are! I thought you’d never find your way back!” His voice is like nails on a chalk board and Mydei longs to throw something, anything, at his stupid, smiling, handsome, frustrating face.

”What a dumbass,” he hisses out as his only reply. How did he even manage to get here before him? Didn’t they leave practice at the same time? Come to think of it…

It seems that Phainon reads his mind because he’s leaning back on the palm of his hands, and Mydei can’t stop his eyes from briefly darting down to his toned abs, still wet from his shower. There’s even a brief hint of his happy trail before it disappears into the towel and Mydei just wants to-“See, coach let me leave practice early. He saw I was a little tired so he forced me to come back to the room.” Phainon’s voice interrupts Mydei’s train of thoughts and he feels the muscles in his jaw twitch.

”Is that so?” He answers curtly. He ignores whatever else Phainon says in favor of gathering his materials for his shower, reciting his favorite song in his head so that he wouldn’t accidentally destroy any of his or the hotel’s property in his irritation.

Once he has everything ready, he storms his way to the bathroom, Phainon’s laugh following him. He slams the door closed behind him, and swears he can still hear the stupidly melodic sound of his friend’s laughter.

Cursing, he turns the shower on extra cold, both to cool down his body and to get rid of his half hard boner.

Mydei sleeps horribly that night.

The couch is uncomfortable and too small for his huge frame. No matter how much he twists and turns, he can’t find a comfortable position. By morning, he’s only gotten 2 hours of sleep max and he’s grumpy.

Their championship is tomorrow and it’s the final day of practice before the big day. Mydei would be happy, had he gotten proper sleep, but now his teammates would just have to deal with a very bitchy Mydei.

Phainon, on the other hand, seems to be thriving. Mydei watches as he warms up fluidly, that stupidly handsome smile on his face again as he talks to one of their teammates. He wants so badly to remove it off his face, either by kissing or punching him… or maybe both in no particular order…

Anyways.

Throughout practice, Mydei can feel the way his back aches every time he moves and it only serves to sour his mood even more. Phainon must notice at some point because he doesn’t banter with Mydei like he usually does and he can feel his freakish blue eyes watching him a few too many times during practice.

After practice, Mydei once again returns to their room to see Phainon there before him once again, except this time he’s not sitting on the bed and he’s still wearing his practice uniform, minus his shirt. It distracts Mydei from his bad mood only for a second.

As Mydei takes his shoes off, a little less harshly than yesterday, there’s a silence that hangs between them. Mydei has no idea what the tension is for and he didn’t plan on addressing it until Phainon clears his throat.

”Um, Mydei… how…” Mydei can hear the way he struggles over his words and it intrigues him enough to the point where he stops what he’s doing to glare at Phainon. He crosses his arms over his chest and is about to tell the man to just spit it out, but Phainon continues.

”I saw… the way you were during practice today. If you want, we could just… share the bed tonight? I mean, the couch isn’t comfortable for either of us and I think the bed is big enough for the both of us so-“

Mydei cuts off his rambling with a sharp click of his tongue. “Fine. I refuse to sleep on that poor excuse of a couch for another night anyways,” he mutters.

Phainon seems relieved at the agreement and Mydei swears he physically deflates like a balloon, as if he’d been scared Mydei would go off on him or something. Well, he would under under different circumstances, but Mydei would say yes to anything that a shirtless Phainon asked him.

”Great, great. I’m going to go take my shower then.” Before Mydei can even react, Phainon is already rushing into the bathroom, and Mydei watches him go wordlessly. What a weirdo.

Once they’ve both finished their showers, they stand at the foot of the bed, staring at it as if it was a common enemy they were going to beat up. Mydei’s arm are crossed over his chest, irritation rising in him.

“Are we just going to stand here all night and stare at the bed like a pair of dumbasses?” Despite his words, he makes no move to get closer to the bed. Phainon seems to snap out of it and laughs, shaking his head.

”No, I guess we won’t. It does sound like a fun idea, though.” He walks closer to the bed, tentatively sitting on it. His eyes meet Mydei’s whose still standing and he pats the open space next to him in invitation. “Come on, let’s sleep. We have a big game tomorrow.”

The way Phainon says it, soft and domestic like they’re a couple that sleep beside each other every night… he feels a familiar warmth build up in his chest. He forces it away as he walks closer, sitting on the empty spot with a grumble.

Phainon only laughs and shuts off the lamp on his side, then gets himself comfortable laying down underneath the thick sheets. Mydei follows as if on autopilot, and soon they’re both laying on their backs in complete darkness, save for the moonlight filtering in between the curtains.

They stay like that for a while and then Phainon shifts, laying on his side now. “Goodnight, Mydei.”

It’s only when Mydei hears the sound of Phainon’s soft snoring that he says goodnight as well.

Whatever Mydei did in his past life to warrant a situation like this made him wish he could redo whatever he did and ask for forgiveness.

He doesn’t remember when he fell asleep, but he wakes up at 2 AM to a strong arm draped over his waist and a warm breath against the back of his neck. He swears his heart stops beating for a good few seconds.

Phainon is still fast asleep if his soft breathing is anything to go by. Mydei doesn't even know how long they've been in this position for. Sure, he could just wiggle out from under Phainon's arm or push him away, but then he'd risk waking up the man and he does not feel like having to explain what happened.

Or maybe he's just making up excuses because he loves the feeling of Phainon being so close to him.

Nope. Definitely not.

He lets his eyes close again, fully intending on drifting back to sleep and ignoring their positioning, but when Phainon shifts a little, Mydei suddenly becomes acutely aware of a sudden hardness pushing against his ass.

Oh. Oh yeah, he's so fucked.

Mydei's breath hitches, but Phainon doesn't seem to have woken up. Maybe… maybe he could just try really hard to go back to sleep and ignore it? Yeah, he could if it wasn't for the way Phainon suddenly pushes his hips into Mydei's ass more, as if seeking out any sort of friction in his sleep.

Mydei can feel his heart pounding in his chest. It really was a horrible idea agreeing to share a bed with Phainon of all people. Curse him and his stupidly handsome face and abs.

Phainon pushes his boner into Mydei's ass again and the man can feel that way it nestles between his asscheeks despite the layers of clothing separating them. Phainon's breathing is still soft, though it's a little uneven now, which only makes everything worse because it means he's doing it in his sleep.

It make a ton of questions swirl around in Mydei's head. What was he dreaming about? More specifically, who was he dreaming about? A small part of Mydei hopes it's him but he quickly shuts that thought down.

But… if it wasn't Mydei, what would Phainon be dreaming about them doing? Does he dream of Mydei on his knees with his cock down his throat as spit is forced from the corners of his mouth every time he plunges in?

Does he dream of Mydei bent over any surface of his choice as Phainon rams into him and all Mydei can do is take it and moan like a bitch in head?

Does-

Mydei can feel his cock starting to fill out in his shorts and he quickly shuts down those fantasies, squeezing his eyes shut to regain control over himself. He can still feel Phainon's hard cock pressing against him and against his better judgement, he pushes back into him experimentally.

The reaction is immediate. Phainon pushes forward even more and Mydei begins grinding his ass back slowly. Phainon's breath hitches and his cock twitches, causing Mydei to still in fear of having gotten caught, but the man's soft breathing continues.

Mydei resumes, his cock getting even harder. Part of him feels guilty for doing this while Phainon is asleep, another part of him wishing that Phainon would just wake up and take him right then and there.

After a short while of just grinding his ass back steadily against his friend's hardness, Mydei lost in his fantasies of Phainon fucking him however he wants, he's pulled out of them by a quiet moan against the nape of his neck.

"Mydeimos."

Mydei stills immediately, clarity hitting him hard. He waits with bated breathing and Phainon repeats his name again in that whisper like moan, another push of his cock against his ass.

Mydei shoots up immediately, throwing Phainon's arm off of his waist, uncaring if he wakes the man up in the process. He storms off to the bathroom and closes the door behind him, unaware of the confused eyes that follow him.

Mydei stares at the breakfast options in front of him, his stomach growling in hunger. He grabs a plate, wasting no time in piling pancakes on top of it.

After what happened last night, Mydei ended up moving to the couch for his sleep. A bad idea, he knew, but it was either that or getting back into bed with Phainon, and he wasn't going to take a chance again.

Speaking of Phainon, he seems to have the timing of the devil.

"Deimos? I was wondering where you were." Phainon suddenly appears at the entrance of the hotel cafeteria, combing a hand through his silvery white hair. There's no one else there besides them two, and Mydei finds himself cursing internally.

He hums as he pours himself a cup of coffee next, keeping it plain as he grabs both his plate and cup and walks over to a table. He pays Phainon no mind as he eats his food, the pancakes melting deliciously on his tongue.

Once Phainon has fixed his own plate of breakfast, he joins Mydei at the table. He pulls out the chair across from him, picking at his own plate of food. Mydei fully intends to ignore him and enjoy his breakfast in silence but Phainon seems to have other plans.

"So… you moved to the couch last night, huh?"

Mydei pauses, his cheeks stuffed full of his pancake bite. He looks up at Phainon, eyebrow raising in question as he chews and swallows. "Why the hell do you care?"

Phainon shrugs, his eyes fixed to his plate of food. "I dunno. I just thought we agreed to share the bed last night. I was under the impression that you found the couch uncomfortable." He pauses, looking up at his friend once again.

”Unless something happened.”

The way Phainon says it makes Mydei pause. His mind quickly flashes back to the night before and he feels his cheeks heat up. Quickly ducking his head and picking at his pancakes again, he scoffs.

”You were taking up damn near half of the bed. I couldn’t sleep comfortably at all.” His voice comes out in his usual nonchalant tone, even though he feels anything but. He hears Phainon exhale softly but does not lift his head.

”Well if that’s the case, you should’ve woken me up and told me.” He says it as if he knows more than Mydei’s letting on. Before Mydei can even think up a proper response to that, one of their teammates walk in.

Mydei ignores the look Phainon gives him, going back to finishing his breakfast.

The game goes wonderfully, as expected. It’s no surprise that their team wins, with Phainon being the one to shoot the winning shot. The sweet feeling of victory is enough to make Mydei forget all about what happened last night and the man’s oddness that morning.

In the locker room, everyone is still hyped up from their championship victory. Mydei allows himself a quick shower to wash off the thin layer of sweat clinging to his skin before going to celebrate the victory with his teammates.

Afterwards, they all end up at the bar inside of the hotel, underdressed in sweatpants, shorts, hoodies, and t-shirts from their last minute plan for celebration. They drink so much that despite Mydei having a good alcohol tolerance, he starts to feel tipsy after only an hour.

The entire time, Mydei’s eyes are focused on Phainon. The way his biceps look in the white shirt he’s wearing and the way it stretches over his pecs. The gray sweatpants that hang dangerously low on his hips that he has yet to adjust…

The way his eyes light up while he talks to one of their teammates, his biceps flexing whenever he lifts his glass to take a drink.

Mydei’s shorts are starting to feel a little too tight.

The bar is nearly empty, save for a sparse few other hotel guests besides their entire football team. It is almost 1 AM, after all. Mydei finds himself sitting at the bar by himself, having strayed away from the rest to allow himself a little quiet.

He watches as Phainon sits at one of the lounge chairs with a couple of their teammates, his laugh carrying through the bar. Mydei’s heart clenches tightly at the sound and he decides it’s time to take his leave.

Standing from his stool, he downs his final drink of the night in a flourish before leaving without a single word. His walk back to their shared room is quiet, thoughts swirling through his mind relentlessly.

He'd always had certain feelings for his friend, but it seems like they've only grown more strongly these past few days. It's not as if he's foreign to the feeling; he's had lovers in the past. But he's not sure if he's ready to admit that of all people, he likes Phainon.

Mydei exhales an unsteady breath through his mouth as he inserts the keycard and enters the room.

He tosses the keycard onto the nearby table in irritation, flopping down belly first onto the bed. He can still faintly smell the body wash Phainon uses in the sheets, which does nothing to quell the ache in his chest and his shorts.

Mydei rolls onto his back with a groan, staring up at the ceiling as he continues to think. Okay, so what if he is in love with Phainon? It's not like he can do anything about it. The man never expressed any romantic feelings towards Mydei, so there's a chance the feelings aren't mutual and Mydei doesn't like taking chances.

But then what about last night? Phainon was asleep the entire time, so there's no way he could've known. But the way he alluded to knowing something over breakfast still confuses Mydei.

And the way he'd whispered his name like that twice…

The memory of it makes Mydei shiver.

Maybe he'd just… imagined it. Yeah. He likely only heard what he wanted to hear.

Yep. Problem solved.

As Mydei continues to mull over Phainon in his head, the door to their room opens and in steps the man of the hour. He sits up, casual as if he isn't having an internal conflict in his head.

At first, they both seem to ignore each other as Phainon drops his own keycard next to Mydei's and sits on the other side of the bed. Mydei secretly watches as he tugs off his sneakers.

Mydei doesn't avert his eyes when Phainon turns to meet them, a thick silence enveloping them. Neither of them say anything, and Mydei decides to break the silence.

"You did good in the game tonight." His voice is as neutral as he can force it to be, hands clenching in his lap. Phainon chuckles, a sound that makes Mydei's heart skip a beat.

"Thank you, Deimos. You were good, too." Silence surrounds them again. Mydei struggles to find something else to say and doesn't notice when Phainon moves closer until their arms are nearly brushing against each other.

"Mydeimos," Phainon whispers. Mydei loves how good his name sounds leaving the man's lips. His eyes drop down to his lips for a split second before meeting his eyes again.

Phainon continues like he didn't notice. "You've been acting weird all day. We fall asleep in bed together and then you're sleeping on the couch. You avoid me all day." His voice is so captivating. He inches closer to Mydei, until their breaths are mingling together.

"Is it because of what happened last night?" Phainon is so close that Mydei can smell the faint hint of musk mixed with the soap he uses. His heart is pounding hard in his chest but he doesn't make any move to back away.

Mydei's brain short circuits at the question, his throat going dry. So Phainon does know what happened last night. Or does he? Mydei decides to play clueless.

"I have no idea-"

"Yes you do." Phainon interrupts him before he can even finish and Mydei is taken aback. "You do know what happened, Mydeimos. Don't play clueless."

He leans even closer, his blue eyes blazing like a fire. His eyes drop down to Mydei's lips, the tips of their noses brushing together. "I liked it, Mydei," he whispers, voice genuine.

His eyes meet Mydei's again. "I like you."

And just like that, Phainon's lips are on his.

And they're kissing.

And Mydei doesn't hesitate to kiss back.

It's soft, full of so many unspoken words and emotions that he doesn't want to begin unpacking just yet. He loses himself in how soft Phainon's lips are, the taste of bitter alcohol mingling with his minty chapstick that he always wears.

He can feel himself falling deeper- into his emotions, into the kiss, into Phainon. It's like he's suddenly struck by a bolt of lightning and he pulls away abruptly, heart fluttering when the man mindlessly chases his lips.

Mydei holds him back with a firm hand on his chest and Phainon finally opens his eyes to meet his. The shine of spit on his lips, the way he looks like he wants to devour Mydei whole…

It makes Mydei want to strip for him right then and there.

Phainon takes a moment to catch his breath, his eyes never leaving his friend in the process. Mydei, on the other hand, swallows thickly, his throat feeling dry.

"Phainon, we… you… you must be drunk. You know you're a lightweight when it comes to-"

"You must not have heard me, Mydeimos." Phainon's voice is more firm than Mydei's ever heard it before and he snaps his mouth closed instantly.

“I said that I like you. I wouldn’t lie to you like that, even if I really was under the influence of alcohol.” He moves closer, one of his hands moving to Mydei’s on his chest and wrap around his wrist.

Mydei watches as he moves his hand over his heart, breath stuttering when he feels the fast fluttering of Phainon’s heart.

”Are the feelings not mutual, Mydeimos? Was what happened last night just a lapse in your judgement?” Phainon looks like a wounded puppy and Mydei wants to laugh.

Instead, he averts his eyes, looking anywhere but at the man in front of him. “You say that as if we engaged in intercourse. It was merely a mistake when we were both in the midst of sleep.” The excuse leaves him easily, his voice surprisingly level.

Phainon goes silent, and for a moment Mydei wonder if he’d actually hurt him because of his words. But then Phainon is gently pinching his chin between two fingers, turning Mydei’s head so that their eyes meet again.

”So you were still sleeping when you started grinding back onto my cock then?” His voice comes out with a hint of playful teasing, but Mydei feels like it’s more than that. “I don’t think that’s something you’d do in your sleep.”

Mydei finds it hard to breathe. He wants to look away again, but Phainon’s grip on his chin doesn’t allow him to. He feels heat rising on his cheeks once again.

”That’s because you were doing it first. Grinding your dick against me like you’re some kind of dog in heat. While sleeping, no less.” His retort comes with little heat, dulled by the way his pulse is quickening as Phainon leans closer.

The man trails his lips along Mydei’s sharp jawline, nipping the skin with his teeth. “I woke up from you rubbing your ass against me. I wasn’t asleep when I said your name, Mydeimos.”

His mouth moves to Mydei’s ear, his tongue darting out to lick the shell of it. “How about we properly redo last night?” He whispers, pulling back to look at Mydei fully again.

“Please, Deimos.”

The whisper of his name, coupled with Phainon’s words get to him. Mydei cups Phainon’s face in his hands and presses their lips together again in one swift motion. He feels him smile against his lips before he’s kissing back.

With Mydei initiating the kiss this time, it’s rough and hurried. Their hands roam over each other’s bodies like it’s the last thing they’ll ever do. Trailing under shirts to touch heated skin, dipping under shorts and sweatpants to run their fingers along the waistbands of boxers.

Mydei finds himself flat on the bed, Phainon above him as they continue their heated makeout. Tongue and teether are added, and Mydei greedily swallows each moan that the man lets out into his mouth.

When they pull away to catch their breaths, albeit reluctantly, Phainon wastes no time in trailing his wet lips down Mydei's neck along his red tattoos. Mydei allows him, leaning his head back and panting heavily.

With a speed that rivals anything Mydei has ever seen before, both of their shirts are gone and Phainon's warm tongue is laving over his left nipple. Mydei gasps, his back arching off the bed.

Phainon laughs against his chest, peeking up at Mydei with a mischievous glint in his eyes. "Sensitive here?" His hand moves to give attention to his other nipple, twisting the bud between his fingers.

Mydei finds it increasingly harder to hold back his moans as Phainon sucks and bites at his pec, moving to the other side to give it the same attention.

At some point, Phainon must realize that Mydei is purposely holding back his sounds of pleasure. He places one last kiss to the dusty brown nub before kissing his way up to his jawline.

"Don't hold back your moans, Mydei. I've been waiting so long for this. Let me hear how good I'm making you feel." His voice comes out so soft as his hand trails down Mydei's body slowly, teasingly.

It stops right above the tent in his shorts, the heel of his palm pressing down gently onto it. Mydei's breath leaves him all at once, his hips pushing his clothed cock up into Phainon's hand desperately.

"I'll make you wait even longer if you don't hurry the hell up, dumbass," he snaps with little heat, all thoughts leaving him when Phainon rubs him slowly.

Amusement colors the man's face, a soft laugh leaving him. "Alright, alright. No need to get so cranky, I'll stop teasing."

He holds true to his words, pulling away from Mydei with a final kiss to the red tattoo under his eyes. Mydei's shorts and underwear are gone in the blink of an eye, tossed over Phainon's shoulder to some unknown corner in the room.

Phainon moves so he can stand from the bed and just as Mydei is about to throw a bitchy fit and ask where he's going, he pulls Mydei to the edge of the bed by his ankle.

Mydei's mouth snaps shut and his cock twitches against his abdomen.

Phainon holds back his laughter, spreading the man's legs and dropping to his knees between them. Mydei watches him carefully and becomes startled when his legs are being lifted and pushed back, practically folding him in half.

"Dumb… Phainon, what the hell are you do-" he only manages to snarl out half of his protest before the man is leaning in, his flat tongue laving over his hole and oh-

Mydei slaps a hand over his mouth to muffle his moan, teeth biting into the palm of his hand as Phainon repeats the motion. He begins eating him out like a starved man, shoving his tongue past the tight ring of muscle.

Mydei's cock is drooling precum against his abdomen, untouched and painfully hard. Phainon pulls back, spitting directly onto his hole and shoving a finger inside to the knuckle. The intrusion, combined with Phainon resuming his earlier ministration makes Mydei shout and shudder.

He doesn't let up and in Mydei's dazed mind, he realizes that there's a second finger inside of him. The digits curl against his walls, dragging and hitting the right spots.

Phainon watches Mydei through it all, that glint of mischief still in his blue eyes. He pulls his mouth away, wiping the spit from his chin with the back of his hand. His fingers then wrap around Mydei's weeping cock, stroking him slowly as his fingers pump in and out of him.

"I told you I wanted to hear your moans, Mydeimos. Stop muffling them." He leans in, dragging the flat of his tongue along the vein on the underside of Mydei's cock. A pit forms in his stomach, his hand dropping away from his mouth.

Phainon seems satisfied, his mouth wrapping around the tip of his cock. Mydei's brain goes blank when a wet heat engulfs his entire cock, Phainon having sucked him all the way to the base in one go. A third finger plunges inside of him, his fingers curling right against his prostate.

Mydei's orgasm is forced out of him. He can't even warn Phainon before his cum is spilling down his throat, a loud moan ripping out of him. Phainon's throat spasming around his cock increases his pleasure tenfold and he finds himself sobbing from the intensity of it.

Phainon continues to rub his fingers against Mydei's prostate, only letting up when the man weakly pushes at his shoulder. He lets his softening cock fall out of his mouth, his fingers next to leave Mydei's stretched hole.

Mydei, weak from his strong orgasm, allows Phainon to kiss his way up to his naval before pulling away. He watches as the man stands before he's suddenly flipped over onto his stomach.

Too weak to move or protest, Mydei listens to the sound of clothes rustling and hitting the floor. The bed dips behind him and suddenly warm hands are on his hips, pulling his bottom half up. Phainon drapes himself over Mydei's back, kissing up his spine all the way to his nape.

His lips are warm and soft against Mydei's already overheated skin. He stops at the shell of his ear, grinding his cock onto Mydei's ass.

"I want to make you cum again," he whispers like it's a secret, teeth biting at heated skin. "I want to make you cum on my cock over and over again in every position imaginable."

Mydei's breath shudders at the vulgarity of his words, his own cock twitching in interest.

Phainon's hands are rubbing at Mydei's hips and up his sides, like he can't get enough of him. He lifts himself up from his back, hands trailing all the way to Mydei's ass to spread him open.

The tip of his cock rubs against his hole, Mydei's legs going weak from the overstimulation. He would've already collapsed had Phainon not been holding him up.

"I haven't been able to stop thinking about last night. The way you were rubbing yourself against me… I wanted to fuck you right then and there, but then you ran away to the bathroom."

The tip of his cock catches on Mydei's rim, making both of them shudder. "I would've fucked you just like I did in my dream." The tip dips in before Phainon is pulling it back out again. "I would've made you moan my name all night long. My cum would've been dripping out of you by the time the sun rose."

Phainon pauses, leaning down and spitting directly onto Mydei's hole. Mydei moans as the man continues to grind his cock between his asscheeks, the added spit making the slide easier. "You'll let me do it all tonight though, right Mydei? You'll let me fuck you into this mattress until I'm satisfied?"

Mydei manages a moan, nodding his head in agreement. "Yeah, yeah. Fuck me in any way you want, Phainon."

He can't see his face, but from the pleased hum he hears, he knows Phainon is probably grinning.

"Good."

And that's the last thing Phainon says before he's shoving himself all the way inside of him.

Mydei's body immediately goes lax at the sudden fullness, his fingers too weak to even hold onto the sheets properly. His mouth is open wide in a silent moan.

Behind him, Phainon's own fingers are digging into his hips so hard that he fears he'll bruise. A moan leaves his lips as soon as he's all the way inside of Mydei, their skin flush against each other.

"Fuck, Mydeimos. You feel better than I imagined." He doesn't give Mydei much time to adjust before he's pulling out completely. He watches as Mydei's hole flutters around nothing before he plunges his cock deep inside again.

Mydei shouts, body jerking away from the sensation. Phainon doesn't allow it, though, pinning his hips down as he repeats the motion of pulling out completely before plunging back in again. It causes his sensitive cock to rub against the sheets with every plunge.

Mydei's mind goes wonderfully blank, moans punched out of him every time Phainon pushes back in. Eventually, Phainon stops pulling out completely and begins fucking Mydei properly.

The sound of skin slapping together begins to fill the hotel room, coupled with their mixed sounds of pleasure. Mydei quickly learns just how vocal Phainon is when the man above him won't stop speaking, incoherent sentences mixing with his moans.

"Mydei, fuck, I don't think I'm going to last long inside of you. You feel so wonderful, I'm gonna fuck you full of my cum." His words are downright filthy and it makes Mydei's back arch, his insides fluttering around the cock inside of him.

Phainon's hips stutter, a breathless laugh leaving him. His pace grows sloppy like he's chasing his own release. Mydei feels his second orgasm creeping up on him, his sensitive cock twitching against the sheets.

"I can't hold on any longer, Mydei. I want you to cum with me." His voice comes out breathless, a hand tracing up Mydei's spine. When his fingers brush over a certain spot, Mydei shouts and his body goes taut, his second orgasm hitting him hard enough that he sees stars. It must push Phainon over the edge as well because not long after, he feels warmth coating his insides as Phainon buries himself in deep.

They stay like that for a long time, both of them attempting to catch their breaths. Phainon eventually lifts himself off of Mydei's back, pulling his cock out slowly and watching the trail of cum that follows after. With his thumb, he pushes it back in and Mydei protests with a soft groan.

"I feel like my limbs aren't working right," Mydei mumbles into the sheets. Phainon helps him turn over onto his back and Mydei bets he looks just as ruined as he feels. If he does, Phainon doesn't say anything.

Instead, he hums as his response his eyes raking over Mydei's tired form. Mydei shields his eyes with his arm. "I don't think I'm going to be able to walk properly tomorrow. Hopefully-" he cuts himself off when he feels his legs being spread again, quickly lifting himself up on his elbows to look at Phainon laying between his legs.

"What the fuck are you doing?" He hisses out, watching as Phainon kisses the inside of his thighs. His feet are kicked up in the air, swinging behind him.

"Cleaning up my mess before our next round, obviously. You couldn't possibly think I was done with you. That was just a warm up." His teeth dig into Mydei's plush skin and he sucks. Mydei moans, attempting to close his legs, but with Phainon between them it's nearly impossible.

"You are unbelievably disgusting," Mydei grumbles, making no further move to deter the man. He falls back onto the bed when Phainon's tongue finally licks at the trail of his cum trickling out of Mydei's hole.

It was going to be a long night.

Mydei wakes up the next morning to a kiss on his cheek and the smell of pancakes in his nose.

”Rise and shine, sleeping beauty,” a soft voice whispers in his ear, followed by another kiss. He grunts, blindly reaching out to push away the man waking him up.

”Leave me alone and let me sleep in.” His voice is rougher than it usually is in the morning, his throat feeling unusually sore. His mind flashes through the events of last night and how loud he’d been.

And when Phainon fucked his throat.

Yeah, no wonder his throat was sore.

He finally opens his eyes, only to be met with the sight of the perpetrator staring down at him. There’s a fond look on his face and Mydei’s heart flutters in his chest at the sight of it.

Phainon seems to snap out of it when he sees Mydei’s eyes open fully, a faux frown appearing on his lips. “Awe, and to think I brought you some breakfast and tea to help with that sore throat of yours.” He shakes his head, moving to pull away from Mydei.

In a spur of the moment decision, Mydei grabs the collar of Phainon’s shirt and pulls him down so that their lips meet in a gentle kiss. He swallows the surprised sound that Phainon makes, relaxing when he feels the man kissing back.

He pulls away after a while, shoving Phainon away from him to sit up and look around. “Where’s that tea you brought me?”

Phainon smiles, turning away briefly to grab the cup of tea he’d placed on the nightstand beside him. He holds it out to him, and Mydei takes it carefully before taking a tiny sip, and then gulping the whole thing down.

He hands the empty tea cup back to Phainon who takes it and hands him his plate of pancakes next. They sit in a comfortable silence as Mydei eats his breakfast, and Mydei secretly feels like it’s something he could get used to doing with Phainon.

As he shoves another bite of pancakes into his mouth, Phainon clears his throat. “So… does this mean you like me back?”

Mydei looks up from his food, his eyes narrowed slightly at the man beside him. He chews slowly, watching Phainon look anywhere else but him.

When he finally swallows his bite he sighs, rolling his shoulders back. “It does if you stop looking like a dejected puppy.” His words come out with its usual bantering tone, but this time it’s laced with a hint of fondness.

Phainon finally meets Mydei’s eyes and a soft smile begins to make its way onto his face. Mydei’s heart flutters and he looks back at his pancakes.

“So does this mean you’ll go on a date with me then?” Phainon asks next, leaning into Mydei’s personal space. Mydei cuts another piece of his pancakes, a scoff leaving his lips.

”Don’t you think you’ve done it all backwards? Ask me on a date, then fuck me, not the other way around?”

Phainon shrugs, resting his cheek against Mydei’s bare shoulder. “Maybe we can fix it then. I’ll take you on a date and then I can fuck you again.” He says it so nonchalantly that Mydei nearly chokes on the pancake slice in his mouth.

He manages to swallow it, clicking his tongue against the roof of his mouth. “Fine. I suppose I’ll agree to a date with you. But only once we’ve returned back to the city.”

Phainon beams, his smile bright. “Great. I’ll start planning our wedding after our first date.”

Mydei resists the urge to throw his fork at him.

They return back to their city later that day. Mydei holds off on their date until the next day, when his lower back isn’t so sore.

Phainon, true to his words, fucks him after that date.
